Six Days in Open Boat.

Six days in an open yawl boat, with waves constantly dashing over them, and with only a few tins of canned beef and one gallon of water, is the experience of Capt. Borden and the six members of the crew of the American steamer Nokomis.

The men reached Pensacola, Fla., yesterday, being brought from St. Andrews, where they were washed upon the beach in an almost unconscious condition with limbs swollen and benumbed and almost dead from exposure. They were found by a party from a small settlement nearby and given attention until they were able to be placed in a boat and brought down to Pensacola, where the vessel is owned.

The story of the suffering of the men is a terrible one. The vessel put out from Gulfport about two weeks ago for Cuba, with a cargo of lumber. Shortly after getting to sea a leak was discovered, and although the pumps were started, the water continued to rise in the hold until there were several feet. A heavy gale then came on, and the men began to throw off the deck load. The vessel continued to take water, and it was soon afterward that she listed heavily.

The men then decided to abandon the ship, and gathered food and nautical instruments, placing them on the cabin house, when a big wave swept over the vessel, turning it completely over and throwing everything into the sea. Almost by a miracle, one of the life-boats, a jug of water, and a few cans of meat were saved.

The men then set out for shore, and for six days and nights, with the seas running almost mountain high, they pulled the open boat, sometimes not knowing in which direction they were going. Toward the close of the sixth day land was sighted, and, although an effort was made to keep the boat off, the strength of the veering crew was not sufficient and a big wave cast the boat and its contents upon the beach near St. Andrews. The men were unable to move and were almost dead from cold and hunger.

Forcibly Removed from the White House.

Mrs. Morris, wife of a prominent physician at one time in the government service and a sister of Representative John A. T. Hull, of Iowa, was forcibly removed from the White House yesterday by secret service men and policemen. Her clothing was almost torn from her, the muddy footprints of the policemen were on her skirts, her hair hung about her shoulders, and much of the mud from the asphalt walks of the White House grounds was upon her garments after she literally had been dragged several hundred feet, placed in a vehicle in which she was taken to the House of Detention, there put in a barred cell, from which she was released several hours later, physicians having made an examination and found her sane.

Her brother, Representative Hull, says she is at least eccentric, but he has no particular interest in the affair, but she declares she is the victim of a conspiracy and places some blame on her brother for the sensational occurrences of yesterday.

Mrs. Morris, who is fifty years old, visited the executive offices about 1:30 o'clock yesterday, about the hour when the President goes to luncheon. She was fashionably attired in a gown of black silk and wore white face. She is a large woman, weighing about 175 pounds, and of commanding presence. She sent a card to Secretary Loebe, who deputized his assistant, B. F. Barnes, to see her. To him she said she wished to see the President on a matter of great importance.

Mr. Barnes asked the nature of her business. She refused to give it and declined to depart when requested to do so; hence her forcible removal.

Eaten by Cannibals.

The steamer Olinda, of the Elder Dempster Line, which arrived at Liverpool yesterday, brought a horrible story of cannibalism in Nigeria, of which Dr. Stewart, of the southern Nigerian government, was the victim.

The doctor accompanied an expedition to the interior, but was separated from the main body. With only a few carriers he proceeded to Calabar river. He was riding a bicycle and, being outstripped by the carriers, missed the main road and ran into the village of a hostile tribe.

The carriers, returning, found Dr. Stewart's bicycle and later parts of his body. The investigation which followed showed that the body had been horribly mutilated and there was no doubt evidence that it had been partly eaten. It is stated that the village is only two days' march from the Calabar river. It is known that the natives often indulge in cannibal feasts.

Sugar $1.39 a Hundred.

A telegram setting forth the alleged deplorable condition of the sugar plantations in the Philippine Islands was transmitted to the Senate yesterday by President Roosevelt. The telegram, which is from De Leon, president of the Association Agricola, to the acting Governor-General of the Philippine Islands, was sent to Secretary of War Taft. It follows:

"Prices of sugar, 3.81 pesos assorted. No hopes of improvement. The situation of agriculture is insupportable. Sole salvation is abolition of Dingley tariff. The Association Agricola prays to transmit to Washington the deplorable state of agriculture. Planters prefer not to harvest crops at present prices."

In his letter to Secretary Taft explaining that the price named is equal to $1.39 a 100 pounds.

Killed by Tornado.

A tornado struck the schoolhouse of Josie Beatty, at Troy, Ala., Wednesday, and two boys were killed by falling timbers. The schoolhouse was demolished and none of the occupants escaped without injury, although the wounds of only fourteen are serious. Ramoth Church was damaged by the tornado, the residence of Cato Green was wrecked, and the postoffice and many outbuildings were damaged. When the high wind struck the school building the sides of the structure gave way and the roof fell upon the occupants.

A destructive tornado passed over the western part of Jacksonville, in east Texas, Wednesday night. The house of William Walton, containing a family of five, was carried into the street, and all the occupants seriously injured. Seven other residences were also destroyed, but the occupants were not hurt.

Perfection can only be attained in the physical by allowing Nature to appropriate and not dissipate her own resources. From this terrible affliction I was released by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful."
